SHARING OUR STORIES

an intergenerational women's retreat

Who am I? Who was I? Who will I become? Join with other women, ages 13 and up, to share our stories - for ourselves, for future generations, for our faith communities... Using words, photos, sketches, or even video, we will journal together in creative ways. Going deep, we will also laugh, play, worship, move, and celebrate. We may find ourselves making a labyrinth, or trading favorite recipes, or dancing, or telling secrets. Young and old, all will have a place around the hearth.

Come alone, or bring along a woman from another generation: invite a neighbor, an aunt, a granddaughter, a friend from your faith community, a mentor... We will join with friends long known and those newly met to welcome all into a blessed community.

Karin Sprague, a member of Smithfield (RI) Meeting, is a stone carver and lover of life. She is a frequent volunteer at youth retreats for New England Yearly Meeting. She will be joined by other Friends in leading activities and creating a safe container for all.
